Globally, there has been an increase in cyber threats such as phishing attacks, website defacements and malware infections. As a highly connected country, Singapore's cyber landscape mirrors this global trend. According to a report published in June 2018 by the Cyber Security Agency of Singapore, up to 40 per cent of reported cyberattack cases involve businesses. As businesses embrace digitalisation and new technologies, investing in cybersecurity solutions and talents will be necessary for protecting against cyber threats.
